SUPPORTING INNOVATION + GROWTH

The Hub is collaborating with the Centre for Sustainable Architecture with Wood (CSAW) to deliver a workshop focused in investigating ways to support resilience and agility as the Tasmanian forest industry transitions to an increased reliance on plantation hardwood.

This aligns with one of the Hub's key themes of Innovation and Growth, and how we can work together in the face of challenging markets, increased focus on sustainability, innovation and high value products. How can we be more adaptable, agile, sustainable, viable along our value chain? Stakeholders from along the forest industry value chain are invited to participate in the Resilience + Agility Discussion on 6 November at Inveresk.

EMPLOYER WORKSHOP | 19 NOVEMBER 2024
10.00am to 2.30pm | George Town

We know Tasmania's workforce is ageing, and that our industry has many barriers to recruitment and retention of our future workforce. And yet, it is this workforce that will be essential in building our resilient and agile industry.

The Hub has contracted Damian Peirce, who has more than 15 years experience in vocational and workforce planning across many industries, schools and government, to facilitate an employer workshop.

This workshop, for employers across the Tasmanian forest industry value chain, will focus on unlocking and exploring workforce barriers and opportunities and scoping out a pilot project to address the key identified barriers.
